

THE curious reluctance of the present Administration to pay off the national debt is receiving constant illustration. The Bond Purchase bill now before Congress is, apart from Beck's amendment, merely a declaration that a law which the Treasury Department has disregarded really has force. There has been no time since Cleveland's inauguration when the surplus could not have been used for the redemption of the bonds now outstanding. In July, 1886, after he had been sixteen months in office, and when there were still nearly $200,000,000 optional bonds to be redeemed, it was necessary for Congress to sharply demand that the Secretary of the Treasury (Manning) should employ the enormous surplus which had accumulated in the vaults of the treasury for the redemption of these bonds. A Republican Congressman, McKinley of Ohio, in a speech delivered July 14, 1886, said: "In sixteen months of Democratic power only $58,000,000 of Government bonds were called for redemption, as against an average of $153,000,000 redeemed by a Republican Administration every sixteen months during the preceding four years." These taunts and a House resolution combined forced Manning to begin the work of redemption neglected for so long a period, but his calls were limited to $10,000,000 a month in order to give the national banks a show to retain their circulation as long as possible. If he had been desirous of saving interest he might have adopted a course which would have kept six or seven millions out of the coffers of the bondholders and in the pockets of the people. When the story of Manning's administration is told, it will go far to destroy confidence in the Democratic pretension that Cleveland has made a good President.

THE fact, says the San Francisco Republican, that Senator Stanford will be a candidate before the National Republican Convention for the office of President of the United States has been officially announced, and beyond doubt he will receive a united delegation from the Pacific Coast, anxious to support his claim to that position. No one in Washington is better advised regarding the wants of our people, or is more closely identified with the prosperity of this country, and his record, both public and private, has been irreproachable. His action in the Senate on the Chinese question and the Silver bill, has always been on the side of the people, and his nomination would be hailed with unbounded enthusiasm on this coast. Still we must remember that, at the present time, the Pacific Coast States and Territories are but a very small portion of this great American Union, and only by persistent effort can our voice be heard at all. To obtain any hearing in our National Convention, our delegates must be united and harmonious, and the time may arrive when their votes may be of importance, and for the best interests of the Republic party Leland Stanford may be selected as the standard bearer to lead the Republican hosts to victory. If such a desirable result can be attained, the people of this coast may rest assured that the needs of our people will receive careful attention at the hands of the administration instead of being ignored as heretofore.

THE vote in the Dominion House of Commons against unrestricted reciprocity affords the anti-American party considerable relief. The journals which regard advocacy of annexation as a species of treason accept the vote as a rebuke to the party which urged unrestricted reciprocity as the alternative of annexation. It is possible that the Government journals have allowed themselves to be unnecessarily distressed over the debate in their Parliament. There is little ground for the belief that a vote in favor of unrestricted reciprocity would have had any considerable weight with the American Congress. If it may be said that there is no party in this country in favor of the annexation of Canada, there is much more ground for the assertion that there is no party in favor of either unrestricted reciprocity or the more complete alliance known as commercial union. The American people will open their doors to Canada when it proposes to form a part of the American Union, but under no possible circumstance will they endorse the proposition for commercial union while Canada retains the right to make her own laws in other respects. We should have an empire of Chinese along the northern border working for small wages to supply the market of the United States with their products.

OVER THE WIRES.

ACQUITTED.
Hattie Woolstein, the slayer of her betrayer, Adjudged Innocent.

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—In the Woolstein case yesterday District Attorney Dwyer made the closing argument for the prosecution. Judge Cheney then delivered his charge to the jury, and at 5 o'clock they retired to deliberate on a verdict. They were absent but ten minutes. On their return the prisoner laid her head on the desk and began sobbing violently. Judge Cheney, anticipating a demonstration, warned the spectators against any manifestations. The clerk called the roll, and in answer to his question the foreman arose and announced the verdict, as follows: "We, the jury, find the defendant, Hattie Woolstein, not guilty."
On hearing the words the prisoner gave a start and uttered a faint cry, while a murmur of applause arose among the spectators. Old Mr. Woolstein, on hearing the verdict, burst into tears and threw his arms around her.
After quiet had been restored the judge thanked the jury and dismissed them, and then ordered Hattie discharged. The latter shook hands with each of the jurymen and a number of ladies and others in the court-room. Outside a hack was waiting, and as the Woolstein party entered it and drove away the great crowd cheered themselves hoarse.
Inquiry among the jurymen elicited the fact that they had fully made up their minds when they left the box, and they stayed in the jury-room only long enough to take a ballot and write out a formal verdict.

THE MILLS TARIFF BILL.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Representative McKinley, one of the members of the Ways and Means Committee, says the Republicans in the House do not intend to interpose any filibustering tactics to prevent consideration of the tariff bill. The Republican party, he says, is a party of progress, and does not believe in obstructing public business. It is now understood that the bill will be taken up Tuesday. In this connection it is said that a project has been started to submit an amendment placing sugar, both raw and refined, on the free list. A warm fight is anticipated over this proposition, should it be made. The friends of free sugar were busy engaged to-day counting noses. It is alleged that a majority of the members are in favor of the proposition, as an abstract one, but think it would be a violation of compact to adopt it. It is understood that nearly one hundred members have notified the Speaker of their intention to speak on the tariff.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

A Proposed Measure to Assist Co-Operative Establishments.
PHILADELPHIA, April 16.—Charles H. Litchman, the General Secretary of the Knights of Labor, has issued a circular to members of the order outlining a plan for practical co-operation. Mr. Litchman, in a brief outline of the plan, then suggests that the manufacturers and co-operative establishments and members of the order file with the General Secretary complete price catalogues of the goods which they produce; that these price-lists be classified, and printed copies sent to every local assembly; and that each assembly appoint an agent to handle the orders for goods. The scheme also provides for a fee from each establishment entering into the arrangement of stamping of the maker's name upon goods to guarantee their quality. Mr. Litchman invites discussion of the scheme by the various assemblies.

Interests of Mayor Hewitt.

BOSTON, April 16.—The New England British-American Association, which represents about fifty thousand men, an organization which grew out of the attempt of a few Irishmen to prevent Englishmen from using Faneuil Hall on the Queen's birthday, has adopted resolutions strongly indorsing the course pursued by Mayor Hewitt of New York, in refusing to permit the Irish flag to be raised on the City Hall.

Rio Bonito Land Sale.

BIGGS, April 15.—There was an important real estate sale at Rio Bonito Colony, near Biggs, yesterday. Buyers came from all sections of the State. Five hundred acres of fertile fruit lands were sold, in subdivisions of twenty, forty and sixty acre tracts. The expectation of the managers were fully realized. The sales amounted to $47,820. Arrangements are being made for another sale in two weeks.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

—The New York Tribune says: Among the big-framed and big-brained men of the Pacific Coast no one ranks higher than Senator Stanford.
—The Manhattan Club indicates its confidence in the fact that Cleveland will be renominated, and has already arranged to give him a reception after the St. Louis Convention.
—Ignatius Donnelly claims to have received a new proof of his theory about the authorship of Shakespeare's writings, by new cipher disclosures since his arrival in England.
—Estimates of Boulanger's vote in Nord range from 150,000 to 200,000, the last being the figure set by his enthusiastic friends. There are about 365,000 electors in the department.
—Mrs. Diss de Bar, the spiritualist who is under arrest in New York for defrauding Luther R. Marsh, the lawyer, has in her possession letters from many prominent business and society men, in which she is termed "Angel" and similar terms. The letters, if published, would create the liveliest sensation.
—Senator Stewart will introduce in the Senate a bill to give Mr. W. A. the widow of the late Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, a sum equal to two years' salary. Chief Justice Waite was eligible to retirement on full pay two years before his death. His salary was $10,500 per annum, and two years' pay would give him $21,000.
—Calarr, when chronic, becomes very offensive. It is impossible to breathe, and it is at the same time afflicted with catarrh. This disagreeable disease, in its most obstinate and dangerous form, can be cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.
—If you have a cold, cough, bronchitis or any form of throat or lung disease, do not neglect it. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, if promptly used, will speedily relieve and cure all ailments of the chest.

A WIERD STORY.

The Strange Hallucination of Mrs. Charlotte Lundholm.

The Virginia Enterprise relates the following of Mrs. Charlotte Lundholm, the unfortunate woman who died at the State Insane Asylum last Friday:

Mrs. Charlotte Lundholm and husband came from Sweden many years ago and settled in Alpine county, California. They were well-to-do. They raised live stock and cultivated the soil. They had a man named Harper who worked for them a number of years. Mr. Lundholm was a highly educated man. He spoke several languages and was a good musician. After accumulating something like $4,000 in cash, besides his stock and ranch, he concluded to take a trip to Sweden. He had originally left Sweden and a wife there, running away with the woman who died recently at the asylum, but he subsequently married her, though it is not here known whether he was divorced from his first wife or not. He made his preparations to leave for the old country, getting his cash together, etc., and here every reliable trace of the man is lost, except possibly what may be gleaned from the pitiful lamentations of the woman Lundholm at the asylum.

Over three years ago charges were brought against the management of the asylum, which were investigated by a legislative committee, and the man Harper, who had worked for the Lundholms, was produced as a witness to show that Mrs. Lundholm was brutally treated at the asylum. Attorney General Alexander, who defended Dr. Bishop from the charges made, examined Harper closely with regard to the departure of Lundholm. Harper testified that Lundholm did leave, and that he helped to put his baggage on the stage for him, and that he was left in charge of the ranch with Mrs. Lundholm. He further said that Lundholm went to San Francisco before going east, and that he received a letter from him bearing the San Francisco mark, notifying him he would pass Reno on a certain day. Harper says he went to Reno, but failed to see him, and doesn't know whether he was asleep in the cars or not, but believes Lundholm was drowned in the bay. Not a word has ever been heard of Lundholm since.

Subsequently Mrs. Lundholm disposed of her live stock one by one, and then the ranch went, and she removed to Carson, where she opened a lodging house. Harper accompanied her. It was not long after that she became delirious, and passed the floor of her perpetually mourning, and when asked to try friends she would say she knew she was going crazy. Harper set to work to get her committed to the asylum before she was anywhere near crazy. He tried to get a commitment from Ormsby, and then from Storey, and finally got one from Reno, where they seem to get it very pretty easy. Then he tried to get a position as attendant at the asylum, and there his importunities became tiresome, and Dr. Bishop fired him out and forbade him to show his face again. But during his visits he would ask what Mrs. Lundholm was talking about, or if she said anything.

Almost from the first day Mrs. Lundholm was placed in the asylum she became worse, though at times she spoke rationally, and for some months afterwards she would sometimes recognize friends and sometimes she would not. On one occasion, when the doctor permitted Harper to see her, she became frantic at sight of him.

In a delirium after the first few months of her confinement, she continually paced her room, and, scratching a spot above her forehead, would repeat the words: "There is no blood on my hands; I didn't kill him; I didn't put him in a box." This she would repeat 24 hours a day, if she thought no one was near, but if any one was in sight she would cease to utter the words and scratch her head. For the last few years she has been there she has maintained a sullen silence.

This reporter was permitted to enter her room about a year ago, unperceived by her. He walked up to her and touched her arm, when she sprang back and gave a scream and said: "No, no, no." No amount of questioning could elicit another word from her.

The question now is, after her death, which must come soon, will Lundholm turn up alive, and with his first wife in Sweden; or is he at the bottom of San Francisco bay, or is he in a box in Alpine county?

FACING THE TRUCKEE—THE ARISTOCRATIC RIVERSIDE AVENUE DRIVEWAY—SPLENDID SEWERAGE—HEALTHFUL LOCATION AND SAFE FROM FIRE.

The proprietor is now ready to receive proposals for lots in Powning's Addition. The map gives a good idea of the Tract, which is situated between the Central Pacific Railroad and the Truckee River, and commences on the west at a point three blocks distant from Virginia street, making it the most central and convenient of any portion of the rapidly growing town of Reno. Unlike any other part of the town, this addition faces the beautiful Truckee River, and Riverside Avenue is certain to become the fashionable driveway of the country. The streets are 80 feet wide, while Riverside and Keystone avenues are intended to be 100 feet in width. All alleys are 20 feet wide. The soil is a rich gravelly loam, and susceptible of the highest state of cultivation. Being situated as it is, it is more exempt from fire than any other section. The regular lots are 60x140 feet. The sewerage is perfect.

Before buying elsewhere, Parties will do well to look at these Lots.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Possesses the greatest possible power to heal and control affections of the throat and lungs, with absolute safety for children or adults. The experience of years has proven it to be of inestimable value as a household medicine, and for professional use. Thousands of physicians and families testify to its great worth. Jas. E. Moring, Highland, Ohio, writes: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for twelve years, and have found that, as a remedy for Coughs, Colds, or Sore Throats, it

Is Unequaled.

J. I. Miller, editor of the "Lutheran Home," Luray, Va., writes: "I advertise nothing that I do not know to be good. I was saved from the grave, I am sure, by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and have recommended it to others with the happiest results." L. J. Addison, M.D., Chicago, Ill., writes: "I have never found, in thirty-five years of continuous study and practice in medicine, any preparation of so great value as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, for treatment of diseases of the throat and lungs; and I constantly recommend it to my patients. It not only breaks up colds and cures severe coughs, but is effective in relieving the most serious bronchial and pulmonary affections."

John J. Uhlman, Brooklyn, N.Y., writes: "Twelve years ago, I was afflicted with a severe bronchial trouble, pronounced by a skillful physician to be very dangerous, and liable to terminate in Pneumonia. After using one bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, I found great relief, and an occasional use of it since that time has, I think, extended my life ten years at least." Mrs. V. M. Thebaud, Montreal, Canada, writes: "Last spring my daughter was attacked by membranous croup, or diphtheria. The doctor prescribed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which cured her of the diphtheria. Being still very weak and sick, she began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which restored her to vigorous health."

How Much Wool do we Grow?

National Stockman.
It will be remembered that the government estimate of the wool clip of 1887 was 285,000,000 pounds, while that of James Lynch of New York for the same time was 325,000,000 pounds. For 1887 the government figure was 265,000,000—a falling off of 20,000,000 pounds—while Mr. Lynch's estimate for 1887, just out is 335,500,000—an increase of above 8,500,000 pounds. This difference is, to say the least of it, singular—and what does it mean? We have not yet seen Mr. Lynch's figures in detail, and do not know to what section of the country he credits his great increase. Everyone knows that there is great lack of thoroughness in the work of the government in collecting its figures concerning sheep; yet the general result arrived at corresponds so well with the results of observation that there are good grounds for believing them to be approximately correct. In all this Ohio valley country, for instance, it can hardly be disputed that the quantity of wool produced is falling off from year to year.

There are two points favorable to the correctness of Mr. Lynch's annual reports. One is that they are prepared after the clip has been taken and most of it sold, when the facilities for getting at the truth ought to be better than in any estimate made in advance of shearing. The other is that the bad wool markets and reign of low prices are more in keeping with the idea of large and increasing clips than of reduced ones. Attending circumstances throw just enough of plausibility into his figures as to place the whole subject in a good deal of doubt.

We allude to this discrepancy in figures to enforce a point which we have made before—that the Department of Agriculture should possess such facilities for gathering figures as would make the results of its investigations authority to be accepted without question. This is clearly feasible, and we hold that the farmers of the greatest agricultural country of the world are entitled to know the accessible facts of the production and consumption of agricultural products. Nothing is more needed than this knowledge in equipping American farmers for the most successful prosecution of their business.

A reporter yesterday listened to an entertaining description of the Argentine Republic given by a gentleman of experience who has recently returned from there. From what he said the idea was gleaned that cattle raising was the principal industry of the country. But the stock is of a worthless class, he said. There has been no importations of new breeds since the old Spanish cattle were brought in centuries ago. It may appear strange, but though the country is cattle covered, there is neither milk, butter nor cheese produced. Indeed, it is difficult at times to get milk for coffee. No one, with rare exceptions, keeps a milk cow. On some of the ranches condensed milk, put up in this country, is used. The cattle are raised exclusively for slaughter, and many are killed for the sake of their hides. There are no wild cattle there, as the term is generally accepted. If they are not absolutely tame they are at least under the control of man. The size of the cattle varies in different parts of the country, but they are mostly large, gaunt, raw-boned beasts, and the meat is generally of no use for other purposes than that for which it is used, to wit: To be canned for the use of peons and slaves in other parts of South America.—(Fort Worth Gazette.)

The acting Governor of New Mexico, under date of March 16, issued a proclamation quarantining against the States of New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Cook county in the State of Illinois, and the foreign countries of England, Scotland and the Dominion of Canada, on account of the prevalence of pleuro-pneumonia.
